Salt & Stormwater—The Salinization of Our Watersheds

Wednesday, November 20, 2019, 1:00pm - 2:30pm

Capital District Regional Planning Commission office
One Park Place, Suite 102, Albany, NY 12205

The increase in sodium and chloride concentrations in fresh water in the United States is a major cause for concern. Salinization is degrading habitat for aquatic organisms and impacting large supplies of drinking water throughout the country. Research has found chloride concentrations of up to 25% of the concentration of seawater in streams of Maryland, New York, and New Hampshire during winters, and chloride concentrations remaining up to 100 times greater than unimpacted forest streams during summers. This webcast will look at some of the latest research on sodium and chlorides and explore ways to reduce its impact on our local aquatic ecosystems. (CWP description of webcast)

Center for Watershed Protection webcasts provide research based guidance and practical advice for individuals designing stormwater systems, managing stormwater programs, or overseeing regulatory compliance. Individuals can also purchase the same webcast directly from the Center.

The Stormwater Coalition of Albany County purchases Center for Watershed Protection webcasts and organizes group viewings for the benefit of the stormwater community and interested public. The webcast is free, live and starts promptly at 1:00pm. Participants receive a Certificate of Attendance, a sign in/sign out sheet documenting their participation, and a time-limited archive of the webcast.

The Capital District Regional Planning Commission (CDRPC) is a Coalition supporter and hosting this webcast feed from their office.
